DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims 8-16 drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancelation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1- 7 and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Smith (USPN 5,480,665) in view of applicants' admissions (pages 6-7 of IDS statement of 10/21/03).

Smith teaches an apparatus and method for removing compounds from wine. The method involves first filtering a wine through a reverse osmosis (RO) membrane and then through an anion exchange column. (Col. 2, lines 11-51 and figures).

While Smith does not explicitly teach using the anion exchange column to remove tartrates, it is inherent that the column will as it is operated as claimed. Smith teaches the recirculation of the of the streams. (See figures).

Smith does not teach using a nanofilter as the membrane. Applicants admit on pages 6 -7, that the "possibility to substitute a filtration membrane to increase or reduce pressure is well known and a comparison between nanofiltration membranes and reverse osmosis ones is made, for example in [Amati et al., Self enriching of musts with permselective membranes].” In view of applicants’ statement, that nanofiltration membranes and reverse osmosis are equivalents it would have been obvious to those of ordinary skill in the art to modify the process of Smith by replacing the reverse osmosis filter with a nanofilter because they are art recognized equivalents.

With regard to using a cationic exchange resin or electrodialysis to remove potassium ions from the permeated liquid, said resin is notoriously well known in the art as means for removing potassium (see col. 3, lines 65 to col. 4, line 25). This portion of the patent also teaches the use of electrodialysis. Therefore, It would have been obvious to those of ordinary skill in the art to use cationic exchange resin or electrodialysis in place of an anionic resin as they are well known equivalents in the art.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
